Our Lifesaving Mission

The American Cancer Society’s mission is to save lives, celebrate lives and lead the fight for a world without cancer.

The American Cancer Society is an organization that faces and meets each new challenge as an opportunity to focus on what truly matters to us—saving lives, celebrating lives, and leading the fight for a world without cancer.

We are saving more lives today than in the past, thanks in large part to our commitment and fierce determination. A steady decline in cancer death rates during more than two decades is something to be proud of, but we can do more for our family and community members, friends, colleagues, and all others impacted by this disease.

We are celebrating lives like never before because each of us is the voice of the American Cancer Society to those around us. We feel the impact in our communities every time a volunteer provides a ride to treatment for someone who wouldn’t have gotten their otherwise, or witness a ceremony for a patient leaving one of our Hope Lodge communities after treatment is completed. We also know how much more impact we can have when we participate in a Survivor Lap at a Relay for Life event, or see a family team formed to honor a loved one at a Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk. We are making a difference.

We are leading the fight for a world without cancer with renewed fortitude and relevance. From research, education, and prevention, to treatment, recovery, and support of patients, caregivers, and long-term survivors, we will stand united with local and global organizations and partners until we achieve a world free from the pain and suffering of cancer. We owe it to all those affected by cancer to never give up on our mission.

Cancer costs us the lives of those we care about, as nearly 600,000 Americans were estimated to die from the disease in 2017. We know a great deal of this suffering and death is needless. We are working to make the greatest impact possible on cancer. We’re removing barriers to quality health care by providing transportation to treatment and other cancer-related appointments, as well as access to lodging for patients seeking treatment away from home. Through more than 456,000 nights at our Hope Lodge communities and more than 61,000 nights of free or reduced lodging through hotel partners program, we saved cancer patients and caregivers more than $47 million in 2017 alone.

With a variety of programs such as the National Colorectal Cancer Roundtable (NCCRT), the National HPV Vaccination Roundtable, and the Community Health Advocates implementing Nationwide Grants for Empowerment and Equity (CHANGE) Grant Program, we work with community health partners and corporations across the nation to increase access to preventative care and improve health equity. In 2016, we contributed to more than 750,000 outreach interventions and nearly 200,000 cancer screenings. By helping local facilities provide cancer education and screening for more underserved patients, we are helping to reduce death rates from breast, cervical, and colorectal cancer.
