The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives, and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy, and service.
Dear Friends,

Marlene and I are pleased to welcome you to a celebration of life, the 29th Annual Night of Wine and Roses. Tonight we will raise critical funds for our American Cancer Society (ACS), while also recognizing the contributions of two accomplished honorees.

Regional Cancer Care Associates LLC (RCCA) is our Medical Honoree. Conceptualized by Dr. Andrew Pecora over 20 years ago, this statewide institution offers comprehensive, research-supported, cancer care through over 100 skilled oncologists. Immediately successful, RCCA continues to apply evidence-based medicine; a modern transition to personalized, clinically-oriented and scientifically supported medical care.

Judy Zone is our Shining Star. Judy has been a dedicated volunteer for over two decades and currently serves on the American Cancer Society’s Central New Jersey Board of Advisors. Judy has contributed innovative ideas and endless resources to a variety of ACS programs and events in an effort to promote prevention and detection.

In 1978, the American Cancer Society opened its doors in Central New Jersey. Shortly after, our state started to witness the second greatest decline in cancer death rates. In the United States, there are 28% fewer deaths today than in 1990 and over 14.5 million cancer survivors! Furthermore, 2 out of 3 are 5-year survivors and nearly 3 million are 20-year survivors. Our American Cancer Society has also funded virtually every major cancer breakthrough since 1955 and 47 of our funded researchers have won the Nobel Prize. Together we are saving lives by helping people stay well and get well, by finding cures, and by fighting back.

Your generous contributions are effectively funding the greatest story ever told, that of eliminating cancer as a major health problem. Thank you.

With appreciation,

Marlene and Michael Nissenblatt

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the American Cancer Society’s 29th Annual Night of Wine and Roses, Somewhere Beyond the Sea!

Tonight promises to be both entertaining and uplifting as we raise money to help the American Cancer Society finish the fight against cancer.

Every year, more than 1.6 million Americans hear the words, “You have cancer.” It is likely that everyone here this evening has either helped a loved one, friend, or colleague after a cancer diagnosis, or heard these words themselves. Yet the 14.5 million cancer survivors alive today in the US are a true testament to the progress we are making in the fight to end cancer.

Due in large part to the Society’s work, cancer mortality rates in this country have declined by 22 percent during the past two decades. That’s more than 500 lives saved from cancer every day. While the progress we are making is nothing short of remarkable, we need your help to finish the fight.

The American Cancer Society is working to save more lives, faster, by preventing cancer, caring for those who have cancer, searching for cures, and working with lawmakers to make this world a healthier place to live. With your help, we believe we can save 1,000 lives a day domestically and, one day, 10,000 lives a day worldwide.

On behalf of the Society, I offer my deepest appreciation to members of the planning committee, including event Co-Chairs Dr. and Mrs. Michael and Marlene Nissenblatt, who worked so hard to make this an exquisite and memorable evening. I would also like to congratulate our 2015 Honorees, Regional Cancer Care Associates LLC (RCCA) and Mrs. Judy Zone, known to all of us for their generosity and service to our community.

Today, two out of three people survive cancer. The American Cancer Society is working to make that three out of three. With your help, we will finish the fight.

Thank you for your generosity and continued support, and have a fantastic evening!

Sincerely,

Kris Kim

Shelly, Michael, Robin, Dave, Melissa, Abigail, Allison, Max and Matthew
Judy Zone is a principal in the accounting and consulting firm of Weisman & Company, LLP in East Brunswick, NJ. Judy and her husband Sheldon moved to East Brunswick 43 years ago to raise their family. In 1978, Judy began working as an accountant for Barry Weisman, CPA, who had just started his own accounting office in East Brunswick. She became a principal of the firm in 1981 and worked with Barry in expanding the office and serving clients. In January 1996, when Barry decided to semi-retire, Shelly joined the practice as a partner, and shortly after their daughter, Melissa also began working there as the firm changed its name to Weisman & Company, LLP and started to become a family practice. In December 2003, Judy’s son Michael merged his accounting clients into the firm, becoming a principal, and Weisman & Company, LLP truly developed into a Zone family practice.

Judy advises her clients on financial, tax and business consulting matters. She has a diverse client background, which includes real estate, contractors, distributors and professional service clients. She provides personalized service to each client and believes that attentive personal service is the basis for a successful relationship.

Judy has also been very active in the community. While raising her family, she became one of the earliest members of Temple B’nai Shalom, volunteering in various committees and serving as financial secretary of the Sisterhood, treasurer of the Temple and a founding member of its nursery school. She was a Girl Scout leader for five years, served on the board of a local Boy Scout troop and on various PTA committees.

Presently, Judy serves on the advisory board of the American Cancer Society for the Central Jersey area. She has held this position for over 15 years and has also been a member of the Wine and Roses committee for more than 8 years. She was instrumental in starting the East Brunswick Relay for Life and has both worked and walked for Making Strides for Breast Cancer for many years. She has helped raise thousands of dollars for the American Cancer Society and volunteers in any way she can.

Judy also devotes her time to The East Brunswick Charitable Foundation. She is the Foundation’s Treasurer, a position she has held for more than twelve years. She serves on the Foundation’s Scholarship Committee and has chaired the annual Community Award of Excellence Dinner for the past ten years. In 2009 she was honored by the Foundation with the Charitable Foundation’s Choice Award. She holds the position of treasurer of the Central Jersey Business Alliance since its inception in July 2011. This year she was presented with the President’s award for her outstanding service for the Alliance.

Judy is an avid reader, enjoys knitting and traveling with Shelly, her husband of 51 years, and spending time with their family, which includes Michael and his wife Robin and their sons Max and Matthew and Melissa and her husband David Fischer and their daughters Abigail and Allison.

Her philosophy is to give back to the community that has given her so much.

COLON CANCER: CATCHING IT EARLY

Colorectal cancer (commonly called colon cancer) remains the third-deadliest cancer in the United States among men and women, despite decreases in death rates over the past two decades. Routine testing can help prevent colon cancer or find it at an early stage, when it is smaller and easier to treat. If it's found and treated early, the 5-year survival rate is 90%. Many more lives could be saved by understanding colorectal cancer risks, increasing testing rates, and making lifestyle changes.

5-YEAR SURVIVAL RATE

- 90%
  - IF FOUND AT THE LOCAL STAGE

DIAGNOSED AT AN EARLY STAGE

- 40%
  - PARTLY DUE TO LOW TESTING RATES

STAGES OF COLORECTAL CANCER

- POLYP
  - Most colorectal cancers develop from these noncancerous growths.

- IN SITU
  - Cancer has formed, but is not yet growing into the colon or rectum walls.

- LOCAL
  - Cancer is growing in the colon or rectum walls; nearby tissue is unaffected.

- REGIONAL
  - Growth is into tissue or lymph nodes, beyond the colon or rectum walls.

- DISTANT
  - Cancer has spread to other parts of the body, such as liver or lungs.

Communities
working together to save lives

Colorectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in the United States among men and women combined, yet it’s one of the most preventable.

It is estimated that one in three adults over the age of 50 – about 23 million people – is not tested as recommended.

Join the national effort to get 80% of adults ages 50 and older regularly tested for colon cancer by 2018.

80% by 2018 is a National Colorectal Cancer Roundtable initiative in which more than 140 organizations have committed to eliminating colorectal cancer as a major public health problem and are working toward the shared goal of 80% of adults ages 50 and older being regularly screened for colorectal cancer by 2018.

My name is Cheryl Kott. I am 58 years old, and I live in Morris Township, NJ.

In May 2007, I went for my annual mammogram. By the next day, I was immersed in a series of medical procedures, culminating in a diagnosis of Stage 2 Invasive Ductal Carcinoma. I was 50 years old. The experience could only be described as surreal, and the fact that I had no idea what to expect was frightening. Thankfully, this uncertainty and fear started to ease once I connected with my medical team. My course of treatment included a double mastectomy with reconstruction and chemotherapy.

I had been physically active prior to diagnosis, working with a trainer twice a week, and walking and running on other days. I like to think that my rapid recovery from the surgeries and my ability to tolerate chemotherapy reasonably well stems from the fact that I was physically fit at the time of diagnosis, and that I continued my fitness regimen throughout treatment, adapting it as needed to fit with my doctors’ instructions. In the words of my trainer, "Endorphins are healing." No matter how tired I felt before exercising, I always felt better, physically and mentally, afterwards. Exercise not only made me feel better, it made me feel normal and in control--feelings that can easily be lost after a cancer diagnosis.

Once I completed my treatment, I knew that I wanted to volunteer at my cancer center. The ACS Resource Navigation program was just being introduced at my hospital, and I knew that was how I could best help others going through cancer treatment. As a Cancer Resource Volunteer, I meet with newly diagnosed patients and their families, listen to their concerns, and identify resources throughout the cancer center and community, including the ACS's Reach to Recovery, Road to Recovery, free wig, and Look Good Feel Better programs, just to name a very few.

My involvement with the ACS grew from there, because the more I learned about the ACS programs and how important the services they provide to cancer patients are, the more I wanted to be an active participant in those programs. I have been a team leader with Making Strides Against Breast Cancer since 2009, my involvement stemming from a desire to raise funds to support the indispensable programs I want to be able to offer the patients I meet. I have also been a Reach to Recovery mentor since 2010 and, this past Spring, I started volunteering with the free wig program in the Cedar Knolls ACS--nothing makes me happier than seeing a woman try on a wig and break into a huge smile because she recognizes herself again when she looks in the mirror.

Seven years post-diagnosis, I feel physically and emotionally stronger than ever. I continue to work out twice a week with my trainer and to stay active in between--I am always ready to flex my arm and show off my hard-earned muscles proudly! I still strongly believe that regular exercise will help me stay healthy both physically and emotionally. But the best emotional "high" comes when I am able to help the patients and families I meet through my volunteer work with the ACS by (1) letting them know they are not going through this experience alone, and (2) as someone who has been through it, by offering hope.

Established in 1948, the Oral Surgery Group has maintained a philosophy of using the most advanced technology and techniques to provide comprehensive care for patients no matter what kind of dental problem, large or small. Drs. David Rauch, Philip Engel, Richard Stern, Constantine Simos and Michael Stern follow this principle, which includes gentle, thorough and expert care in the best interest of the patient.

New and returning patients who visit the practice’s three central New Jersey offices will receive the same personalized attention as has been given for the past 65 years. The group uses the latest technology to provide a full scope of services. A 3-D scanner provides enhanced diagnosis and planning capabilities for in-office procedures that include removal of teeth, dental implants with delayed or immediate replacement of teeth, bone grafting, and treatment of dental pathology. The doctors work closely with talented dentists to coordinate patient care, and they are always available for patients, dentists and physicians.

All of the surgeons are double board certified in oral and maxillofacial surgery and dental anesthesia. Their practice has affiliations with Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, a level 1 trauma center, and Saint Peter’s University Hospital and its multidisciplinary Head and Neck Oncology Group. They also teach dental residents at Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital and medical residents and students at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

Hi! My name is Eliana Lillian Joskowski. My Bat Mitzvah is on June 6, 2015. As my mitzvah project I picked raising money for Breast Cancer. I bought plain white tee shirts which my friend tye dyed pink and white to represent Breast Cancer Awareness. For the past few months I sold those tee shirts at my temple, to my neighbors, and at the club where I learned to golf. I picked the American Cancer Society because my grandmother, Rhoda Solomos, had Breast Cancer twice in her lifetime. I chose to make this donation to Dr. Michael Nissenblatt because he took special care of my grandmother for thirty years, and she flourished under his care. This cause is important to me and my family and I know this money will assist in research and ultimately stamp out Breast Cancer.
